

Key Survey and QlikView: Transforming data into intelligence

Now the most demanding Key Survey customers who require more analytical capabilities can analyze the data collected by Key Survey using a complete and powerful ad-hoc analysis solution to optimize their performance and flexibility.

Need data or Business Intelligence?

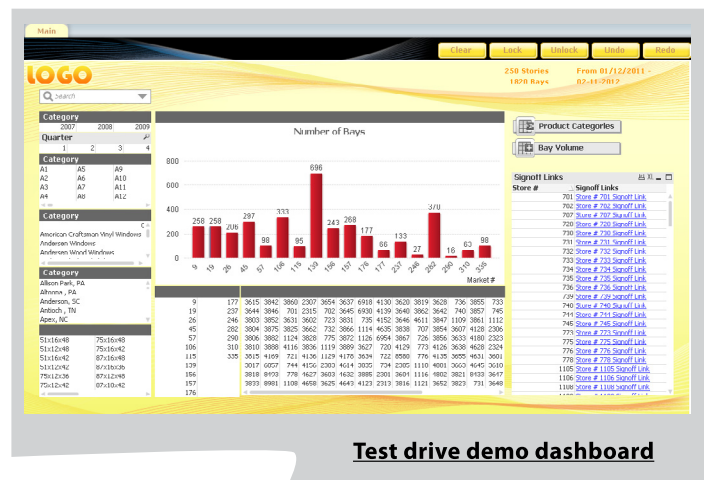

Many survey software solutions offer robust reporting capabilities. Often these reports lead to more questions. What really demonstrates the value of an advanced web-based data collection solution is the ability for users to quickly get dynamic answers to key management questions that go far beyond simple, static reports.

Get Answers, Not Reports

- Get going in days, not weeks or months. Key Survey QlikView integration is available out-of-the-box. Both tools can be deployed in days, require no special IT skills and allow users to drill down the results and redefine dashboards real-time
- Traditional analytic solution technology – dashboards and alerts, multidimensional analytics, slice-and-dice of data, hundreds of possible chart and table types and varieties
- «In-memory» queries and calculations are extremely quick. The application compresses data as it stores, allowing large amounts of survey results data to be processed
- Easy to export the data gathered by Key Survey to QlikView in understandable and well-structured XLS format
- Intuitive interface allowing Key Survey users to analyze anything and everything, from all types of survey questions
- The reports are easy to share between users via bookmarks or as printed PDF reports
- Seamless integration with Microsoft Excel

About Key Survey

Key Survey is an enterprise-class survey tool that gives businesses all the features they need to conduct sophisticated, multi-channel surveys, collect response data, integrate it into other applications and produce results real-time.

Test drive demo dashboard

About QlikView

QlikView is revolutionizing business intelligence with the fast and powerful visualization capabilities that you've always wanted.

More importantly, QlikView is a simple, easy-to-use tool designed specifically to enable business users to get the intelligence they need to act – faster.

To learn more about Key Survey web-based data collection solution please visit <http://www.worldapp.com>.
 For more information on Key Survey QlikView integration please schedule a demo or request a call from WorldAPP.
 Contact information: Tel.: (781) 849 8118; e-mail: info@worldapp.com.